

3M Graphics Instruction Bulletin Reorganization

The 3M Commercial Branding and Transportation Division (CBTD) has implemented a comprehensive review and reorganization of the instruction bulletins in the 3M Graphics Products portfolio. As such, all instruction bulletins published prior to this review have been rendered obsolete, as their material has been consolidated and incorporated into a smaller, more streamlined set of new instruction bulletins with updated technical guidance.

The entirety of the content in the bulletin previously available at this link has been superseded by three new instruction bulletins.

For guidance related to graphic design for printed graphics, as well as instructions and information related to the proper storage and handling of finished graphics, see 3M Instruction Bulletin Production: Graphic Design, Handling, and Storage.

For information and instructions on how to properly care for and maintain finished graphics, see 3M Instruction Bulletin Maintenance.

For information and instructions on how to remove installed graphics, see 3M Instruction Bulletin Removal.

For a complete list of all instruction bulletin changes, see the CBTD Graphics Instruction Bulletin Reorganization Technical Bulletin.
