3M™ Adhesive and Fluid Transport Solutions for Microfluidic Devices

Ensure the integrity of your test results – 3M Medical Specialties is your trusted source in the supply of 3M Adhesive and Fluid Transport technologies designed for use in the construction of microfluidic devices, including molecular and clinical test consumables. Our reputation for innovative technologies and building quality into our products makes us the partner of choice with device manufacturers and suppliers.

3M Adhesive Technologies

Using select adhesives and materials, 3M select Adhesive Technologies minimize the potential for chemical or optical interference as well as aid in the application use and manufacturing of your device. Typical use applications include the construction of blood glucose test strips, blood coagulation test strips, lateral flow devices, microfluidic devices, and sealing consumables for PCR, qPCR, ELISA, HTS and compound storage.
