FOREWORD

This instruction describes installation and use of the Protecta Fixed Anchorage Point. It should be used as part of an employee training program.

IMPORTANT: Before using this equipment, record the product identification information from the product markings (identified in photo on front cover) on the 'Equipment Identification Sheet' at the back of the "General Instructions for Use and Maintenance" (5902392).

PURPOSE

DESCRIPTION: The Protecta Fixed Anchorage Point (Figure 1) is a stainless steel anchor rated for one user in two directions. It installs in steel structures with an M12 A2 or A4 class bolt, or in masonry with an M12 chemical resin fastener.

APPLICATIONS: Figure 1 illustrates typical applications. The Fixed Anchorage Point can be used as an anchorage point for Fall Arrest (A), Positioning (B), Suspension (C), and Fall Restraint (D) systems.

USE

The Fixed Anchorage Point is a single point fall arrest anchor tested to, and in conformance with EN795 Class B. It can serve as the anchorage point(s) for a lanyard. The Fixed Anchorage Point allows the user full freedom in the work zone while securely connected to a safety system. Users should attach to the Fixed Anchorage Point via a energy absorbing lanyard attached to a full body harness.

WARNING: When connecting to the Fixed Anchorage Point, exercise caution and observe that the connector is fully closed and locked. Failure to establish secure connections to the Fixed Anchorage Point for the rescuer or rescue subject may cause severe injury or death.

WARNING: Working at height has inherent risks. Risks include, but are not limited to: falling, suspension/prolonged suspension, striking objects, and unconsciousness. In the event of a fall arrest and/or subsequent rescue (emergency) situation, some personal medical conditions may affect your safety. Medical conditions identified as risky for this type of activity include, but are not limited to the following: heart disease, high blood pressure, vertigo, epilepsy, drug or alcohol dependence, psychiatric illness, impaired limb function, and balance issues. We recommend that your employer/physician determine if you are fit to handle normal and emergency use of this equipment. A rescue plan must be in place to deal with any emergencies that could arise during work.

WARNING: Do not use the Fixed Anchorage Point for applications other than those addressed in these instructions. Inappropriate use may result in injury or death. This product is part of a fall protection system. Installers and users must read and follow the manufacturer's instructions for each component of the system. Alterations or misuse of this equipment, or failure to follow instructions, may result in serious injury or death.

TRAINING: It is the responsibility of users of this equipment to understand these instructions and be trained in correct installation, use, and maintenance of this equipment. Users must be aware of the consequences of improper installation or use of this equipment. This instruction manual is not a substitute for a training program. Training by a competent person trainer<sup>1</sup> must be provided on a periodic basis to ensure user proficiency. Contact Capital Safety for information on training classes, or if you have questions regarding use of this equipment.

PERSONAL PROTECTIVE EQUIPMENT (PPE): All types of Fall Arrest or Restraint PPE may be attached to the Fixed Anchorage Point. PPE used with the Fixed Anchorage Point must be tested to relevant EN standards and bare the CE mark where appropriate. Other fall arrest equipment, such as inertial reel retractable blocks or rope grabs can be used with the Fixed Anchorage Point. Consult the manufacturer's instructions for orientation restrictions. A full body harness is the only acceptable body-holding device that can be used with a Fall Arrest system.

WARNING: All Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) must be used and inspected in accordance with the manufacturer's instructions for use. Always consult the manufacturer to determine suitability of use with the Fixed Anchorage Point with respect to connectors, fall clearances, sharp edges, etc.

CAPACITY: As noted on the product markings, the maximum number of persons that can be connected to the Fixed Anchorage Point for Fall Arrest purposes is one (1) user. The maximum allowable weight (including equipment and clothing) for the person connected to the Fixed Anchorage Point is 100 kg.

APPLIED LOADS: Figure 2 shows correct (☺) and incorrect (☹) loading directions for the Fixed Anchorage Point. Loads should always be applied in directions parallel to the anchor faces and never perpendicular to the anchor faces. The Fixed Anchorage Point is designed for use with systems that limit applied arrest loads to 6 kN or less. Static loads must not exceed 272 kg. Only one person can be attached to the Fixed Anchorage Point. Attachment of two PPE systems by a single user is prohibited.

<sup>1</sup> COMPETENT PERSON TRAINER: An individual who by training, knowledge, and experience is capable of conducting competent person training.

FALL FACTORS: The Fixed Anchorage Point can be used in all Fall Factor situations: 0, 1, or 2.

PRE-USE INSPECTION: Prior to each use to the Fixed Anchorage Point, inspect the Fixed Anchorage Point per the instructions in Table 1.

INSTALLATION

Installation of the Fixed Anchorage Point must be performed by competent person(s)<sup>2</sup> familiar with the Fixed Anchorage Point. The following guidelines must be read and understood by all members of the installation team:

PRIOR TO INSTALLATION: Plan your fall protection system. Consider all factors that will affect safety during use of the equipment. Select a suitable strength structure that will prove overall safety and proper loading strength. The Fixed Anchorage Point installation should factor in the following considerations:

- Height above the work surface
- Clearance to first obstacles
- Work area hazards
- Type of fall protection system desired/needed.
- PPE to be used in the system

IMPORTANT: If you have questions on the use, care, or suitability of this equipment for your application, contact Capital Safety. Modification and alteration of the Fixed Anchorage Point is not permitted without prior agreement from Capital Safety.

WARNING: When working at height to install the Fixed Anchorage Point, use fall protection incorporating anchorage independent of the anchorage you are installing.

ANCHORAGE STRUCTURE: The structure to which the Fixed Anchorage Point is mounted must be capable of sustaining 12 kN of force in the anticipated direction(s) of loading (see Figure 2). Each Fixed Anchorage Point location must be capable of sustaining this load.

PLANE OF ANCHORAGE SURFACE: If the Fixed Anchorage Point is to be installed on a surface that is not perpendicular to the user walking level (e.g., curved or inclined roof, narrow ledge at head height), or a curved surface perpendicular to the user walking level (e.g., silo or vat), consult Capital Safety prior to installation.

INSTALLATION HEIGHT: The Fixed Anchorage Point may be installed at any practical height above the work surface.

RESTRAINT SYSTEMS: Where possible, installations should be designed as a restraint application (see Figure 1). Restraint systems prevent the user from reaching a position where a fall can occur; therefore, no free-fall is possible.

FALL ARREST SYSTEMS: When the Fixed Anchorage Point is used in a Fall Arrest system, it is important to consider the following factors during design:

- Anchorage Point - Mount anchors as high as possible in relation to the user. This minimizes possible free fall, making rescue easier and less distressing on the victim. Avoid anchor locations that increase the chance of swing fall. Swing falls occur when the anchorage point is not directly above the point where a fall occurs. The force of striking an object in a swing fall may cause serious injury or death. Minimize swing falls by working as close to the anchorage point as possible.
- Anchor Orientation - The Fixed Anchorage Point must be correctly oriented to support the loads applied by the system (see Figure 2).
- Hazards - The work area and path below should be free of any hazards (vehicles, fences, balconies, pedestrians, water/chemicals, etc.) that could injure the user or others if a fall occurs.

FASTENING REQUIREMENTS: The Fixed Anchorage Point is installed with M12 fasteners:

- (Figure 3) Install in metal with an M12 A2 or A4 Class Stainless Steel Bolt.
- (Figure 4) Install in masonry with an M12 Adhesive Anchoring System (Hilti HIT-HY 150 or equivalent). Follow the manufacturer's instructions for installing the Adhesive Anchoring system.
- A Locking Nut and Washer must be used in all installations. All fasteners should be tightened to the fastener manufacturer's torque recommendations.
- Attach the included Installation Label to the Fixed Anchorage Point after installation.

PROOF LOAD TESTING: After installation, the Fixed Anchorage Point must be proof loaded. Using a tension tester, apply a 5kN load for at least 15 seconds in a direction perpendicular to the mating surface. There should be no pull out of fixing or deformation of eye.

<sup>2</sup> COMPETENT PERSON: An individual designated by the employer to be responsible for the immediate supervision, implementation, and monitoring of the employer's managed fall protection program who, through training and knowledge, is capable of identifying, evaluating, and addressing existing and potential fall hazards, and who has the employer's authority to take prompt corrective action with regard to such hazards.

NOTE:

- Capital Safety strongly recommends that all anchors be fitted in accordance with the manufacturers instructions for use, and with the installation requirements of EN 795 Class B and BS 7883 Class B (UK only).
- Proof loading is not required for through-hole installations in steel structure, unless required by the purchaser.
- Each of Fixed Anchorage Point must sustain the 500 kg proof load without showing any deformation, permanent yield, or slip of the fastener. Any of these occurrences constitutes a failure. Any failure indicates that the type of fastener tested is not suitable for use in the building material tested and must be rejected. The fastener manufacturer should be consulted for recommendation of a suitable fastener for the base material.
- In the event of a failure, a suitable fastener must be acquired and re-tested. Any rejected anchors must be discarded and their mounting holes plugged to prevent subsequent use.
- After testing the structural material should be carefully examined for cracking, or other signs of failure. This is essential where an anchor is close to the edge of the structural material. For anchors near the edge of a structure, suitability of the intended fastener should be verified with the manufacturer.

INSPECTION AND SERVICE

Table 1 lists inspection and service processes and their frequencies. Servicing should only be performed by a trained Competent Person<sup>2</sup>. Do not use the Fixed Anchorage Point being inspected/serviced. A different anchorage point and independent fall protection should be utilized.

Table 1 - Inspection & Service
Frequency		Inspection/Service:	Action:
Before Each Use	Every Year
X		Verify that all components of the attached safety system are securely and correctly connected together.	Reconnect components which are not correctly connected. Consult the manufacturer's User Instructions for connection requirements.
X	X	Inspect the Fixed Anchorage Point for defects in the metal (excessive corrosion, wear, splits, cracks, bends, etc.).	If defects are sufficient to decrease the strength of the Fixed Anchorage Point, remove the anchor from service and replace.
X	X	Inspect the markings on the Fixed Anchorage Point (see cover photo). All markings should be present and legible.	If markings are not present or are illegible, remove the anchor from service and replace.
X	X	Inspect the fastener(s) and structural material for damage that could affect the anchors holding strength. Inspect the surrounding work area to ensure no hazards or obstructions are present which may injure the user or affect system performance.	Replace damaged fasteners. Re-install the anchor in a new hole if structural material around the mounting hole is damaged. Where the anchor is installed in masonry with an adhesive anchoring system, Re-install in a new hole.
	X	Installations in Masonry: Every 12 months, proof load test anchors installed in masonry (see Proof Load Testing ). Torque fasteners with a torque wrench to the manufacturer's recommended torque value. Defective articles must be replaced.
	X	Through-Hole Installations in Metal: Every 12 months, visually inspect through-hole anchor installations in metal for defects in the surrounding metalwork. Torque fasteners with a torque wrench to the manufacturer's recommended torque value. Defective articles must be replaced.

IMPORTANT: Extreme working conditions (harsh environments, prolonged use, etc.) may require more frequent inspection. Record the inspection/service date and results in the 'Periodic Examination and Repair History' in the "General Instructions for Use and Maintenance" (5902392).

IMPORTANT: Equipment should be removed from use if pre-use inspection creates any doubt about the equipment condition. Equipment must not be put back into service until a competent person confirms in writing that it is acceptable to do so.

IMPORTANT: In the event of a fall and subsequent fall arrest, the Fixed Anchorage Point must be withdrawn from use and inspected by a competent person to determine if it can be returned to service. If it is returned to service, this action must be recorded in the Inspection and Maintenance Log in this instruction.

IMPORTANT: To ensure user safety if the Fixed Anchorage Point is re-sold outside the original country of destination, the reseller must provide instruction for use, maintenance, periodic inspection and repair in the language of the country in which the product is to be used.
