

3M™ 360 Encompass™ System self-service reporting

- Allows custom built reports or modification of report templates to uncover actionable insights
- Enables scheduled reports that are automatically delivered and can be displayed in multiple formats
- Offers advanced data visualizations and multiple report dashboards

The 3M advantage

Today, more than 2,000 hospitals across the country have chosen 3M 360 Encompass to break down the silos separating their clinical documentation and coding workflows.

With 3M 360 Encompass, organizations can streamline workflows and manage crucial data flow in a single platform. This empowers organizations to accurately track key performance indicators and find high impact opportunities.

Measure and report performance

Health care is constantly growing and changing. Without sophisticated technology to measure and report key performance indicators, organizations can quickly find themselves falling behind the curve. To anticipate needed course adjustments, organizations can benefit from tailored dashboard displays that show users where they are, where they are going and how fast they are moving. This insight empowers management teams to make critical decisions based on dependable data.

Investing in the future: Self-service reporting

3M has begun a technology transformation in product reporting capabilities and functionality. For starters, 3M 360 Encompass will now offer operational and self-service reports.

Operational reports provide the necessary real-time information to organizations through many parameter selections and grouping options.

Self-service reports allow additional design flexibility, scheduled report release and a wide range of interactive business intelligence features. Additional reports will be developed on a regular basis, as new fields and functionality are added to the 3M 360 Encompass System.

Measuring return on investment

3M 360 Encompass provides a wide array of management reports across clinical documentation improvement (CDI), quality and coding functionalities. These reports deliver key summaries of coder and CDI performance, while also tracking a variety of performance metrics including case mix index, cases covered, queries generated, physician response rates, query impact, early warning indicators, final coded indicators, compliance and more. Organizations can also generate reports to reflect a snapshot in time of case mix index and physician query management.

Business analytics can be captured with standard templates, such as the financial impact and outcomes report and executive summary reports. In addition, the 3M 360 Encompass query impact table is initially loaded with default values. This is included in the table, and organizations can maintain the table as needed to flag the responses that have a financial impact or add additional value.

With the new self-service reporting technology, organizations can now have the ability to design reports that meet specific reporting needs.

Self-service reporting options

3M 360 Encompass self-service reporting allows users to create custom reports or modify existing templates to meet their needs. With tailored reports, management teams are empowered to make administrative decisions based on reliable data. 3M 360 Encompass self-service reporting includes reports for:

- Health information management teams
- Clinical documentation improvement teams
- Quality teams
- Baseline performance comparisons
- Peer-to-peer performance comparisons (only included with 3M Consulting Services' Performance Data Monitoring program, along with coaching on specific insights)

Key benefits

- Offers time-saving benefits through customization and scheduled reporting
- Drives intelligent insights through customization and advanced data visualizations
- Empowers teams to see and focus on high-impact opportunities
- Strengthens executive buy-in through clear data visualizations, dashboards and tailored reports
