► Situation

In an industry where finding qualified labor and retaining employees can be a challenge, identifying tools and products that make cleaning easy and effective is crucial. OctoClean needed to find a solution to streamline cleaning processes to ensure employees of all skill levels had the tools needed to do a great job.

In addition to identifying easy-to-use and reliable cleaning tools, OctoClean was eager to address some of the unique challenges cleaning staff experience in the medical industry, particularly in patient rooms. Often times patients can be in their rooms for days, and even weeks at a time, meaning the cleaning staff must work on the room while the patient is present. High surface dusting around beds can be a problem when using products such as microfiber towels, which can cause dust to redistribute in the patient room and potentially put the patient and staff at risk of breathing in the dust and causing allergy irritation.

“3M™ Easy Trap™ Sweep & Dust Sheets were everything they were advertised to be.”

–Matt Stowe, Chief Operations Officer, OctoClean
