Julie

Community Relations Manager

I organise and promote my company's community relations programme by encouraging employees with science and technology backgrounds to volunteer as role models for young people.

By sharing the exciting range of jobs in a global science-based company, I inspire students to explore where science can take their future career.

Qualification Needed

Bachelor's Degree

Why do you think community relations is important to a company?

"The company's scientists can spend 15% of their time working on projects of their own choice!"
