Nicky

Application Engineering Manager

I manage a team of scientists and engineers, spread across Europe, who help car makers solve challenges using 3M products.

We help to build cars faster, make them stronger, lighter and quieter by teaching customers about the science behind our products and by testing them in our lab.

Qualification Needed

Bachelor of Science or Engineering Degree

How can you help car manufacturers build more environmentally friendly cars?

"Working with a global team is a great way to learn about different countries and their cultural traditions."
