

Codes at a glance.

A quick reference for moisture-associated skin damage (MASD) diagnostic codes.

MASD is a complex condition with unspecified diagnosis codes that previously did not cover the clinically relevant and prevalent forms of MASD caused by exposure of the skin to a variety of bodily fluids.

As of October 1, 2021, new specific coding for MASD were made available. Use of these codes will facilitate research, enhance clinician education and improve patient care using accurate reporting of the patient's condition.

The new ICD-10 codes include:
