The way we work, and where we work, has changed as the "Modern Workplace" has evolved.

Be it open plan offices, hot desking or public spaces, sensitive information in the "Modern Workplace" is more vulnerable than ever. Visual hackers only need a quick glance to exploit this data, putting businesses at serious risk. And with the increase in open plan offices and the introduction of more and larger desk monitors – it's too easy to see information on screens of others that should not be so "available" to co-workers.
