3M Business Partner Compliance Awareness

To Do List History

Welcome to the 3M Business Partner Compliance Awareness site.

As a global company, 3M relies on positive relationships with customers and other business partners in many countries. 3M believes that to develop strong and sustainable relationships, it is important that our customers and business partners understand our commitment to doing business ethically and in compliance with the law. Doing business in this manner includes complying with important principles and laws relating to business conduct and ethics, such as those prohibiting bribery or corruption. 3M takes specific steps to ensure we do business with partners that also understand and are committed to compliance with these laws and principles. In order to ensure awareness and understanding of anti-bribery and corruption principles and laws, we ask that you complete this on-line anti-bribery course and certification.

The awareness material should take approximately 20 minutes of your time. We believe it sets out a “meeting of the minds” which is a critical piece of the foundation to our future cooperation with what we believe is a premier base of partners. Thank you for your time and attention to this important element of our relationship.

Status	Title	Description	Due Date	Language
	Global Bribery and Corruption Awareness	In an effort to eliminate bribery and corruption and promote international trade, many international organisations have created anti-bribery conventions, which require member countries to enact anti-bribery laws containing specific provisions. After this course, you will understand: basic principles of anti-bribery laws and conventions; the elements of bribery; and how to recognise and avoid bribery.
