

3M™ Cavilon™ No Sting Barrier Film

Cavilon™

Proven Protection for Peristomal Skin

Not all Barrier Films are Equal — Help Your Customers Choose Wisely

Caring for an ostomy can be an everyday challenge. Maintaining intact skin is critical to pouch adherence and the comfort and well being of the patient. Use of a unique alcohol-free terpolymer based barrier film offers an excellent choice for prevention or management of skin damage that can be associated with pouch wear or removal.

3M™ Cavilon™ No Sting Barrier Film is an ideal solution that offers several advantages:

- Protects intact skin from stool, urine and adhesives
- Can be used during episodes of skin breakdown or irritation
- Alcohol-free, sting-free
- Fast drying, non-sticky
- Hypoallergenic

3M™ Cavilon™ No Sting Barrier Film is like no other barrier film

This product contains a unique blend of not one, but two polymers. The additional polymer enables the film to flex with the skin and maintain a continuous, protective coating. Other barrier films contain only one polymer and some utilize alcohol as a solvent.

With Cavilon No Sting Barrier Film you can be confident in barrier effectiveness and patient comfort.

Strong Clinical Evidence

3M has over 70 pieces of clinical evidence supporting the efficacy and cost-effectiveness of Cavilon No Sting Barrier Film for multiple clinical uses, including peristomal skin protection. This evidence collection is more comprehensive than any other barrier film. See the Cavilon No Sting Barrier Film Clinical Evidence brochure.
